

Philippa Bell

Our youngest son has just started Reception so we are new to the school and keen to get to know the culture and community at the school and hopefully contribute some valuable experience. I'm Technical Communications Manager for Northumbrian Water Group where I'm responsible for corporate reporting and regulatory submissions.

My role also involves bringing our corporate reporting and business plan stories to life for customers so I'm used to translating technical data for a customer audience. My background is in PR and media and I've worked in various comms roles for more than 15 years.

Our eldest son is currently in his GCSE year at secondary school. Being a full time working parent, I don't have a lot of spare time for myself but enjoy going to the gym and family days out.
